On Tuesday, January 8, the Frost Family Pavilion—the new 3-story, 60-bed inpatient facility at South County Hospital—opened for medical and surgical inpatients.

The Frost Family Pavilion has 20 single-patient rooms on each of its three floors, all of which are equipped with full private baths, Internet connections, pull-out couches that allow for a loved one to spend the night, large flat-screen televisions and just about anything else a patient could want while away from home.

Care providers have access to electronic medical records in each of the new rooms and each floor has a central nurses’ station. The design also includes staff conference rooms, family consultation rooms and family waiting areas on each floor. The southern end of the Pavilion is a “glass wall” affording spectacular views of Point Judith Pond from each floor.

Floor by Floor

The first floor of the Frost Family Pavilion is dedicated to cardiac inpatients and includes telemetry monitoring capability (remote telemetry monitoring is available for all inpatient units, monitored by the specially trained nurses in the cardiac unit on Frost 1).

The second floor is home to surgical inpatients. This floor is also home to four pediatric patient rooms, located near the nurses’ station so that nursing care for pediatric patients is in close proximity. An alarm will sound if pediatric patients are taken from the floor without authorization.

The third floor of the Frost Family Pavilion is for medical inpatients. Two rooms on this floor, on the south end of the wing overlooking Point Judith Pond, are available for Hospice Care and have been designed to provide extra space, comfort and privacy for patients and their families during this special time.

Eventually, Frost 1 will connect to the new ICU planned for location on a renovated Borda 1. The second floor of the Frost Family Pavilion (Frost 2) connects to the Orthopedics.
The start of a New Year is a time of resolutions. If that’s true for you, I hope that paying more attention to your health is on your list. Achieving and maintaining good health helps us get the most enjoyment out of life. Optimal health varies for each individual; whatever it means for you, we’re here to help you achieve it.

You might want to start by finding a primary care physician. If you’re looking for a doctor, visit our Web site at www.schospital.com and click on the link to the list of primary care physicians accepting new patients. This information is updated monthly. You can also use the Find a Doctor tab to learn more about these doctors as well as all the specialists on the medical staff.

The homepage of the Web site also includes listings of the various lectures, clinics and classes we offer every month to help you achieve and maintain your own optimal wellness. Most of these are free and are designed to help you understand disease prevention, providing you with information on preventive healthcare steps, the latest screening and diagnostic options, and treatment choices. In addition, the Calendar of Events on our Web site is the best place to find the schedule of our many ongoing programs, classes and support groups, such as our childbirth preparation classes, our diabetes management classes and cancer support group, to name just a few.

Our Web site also provides announcements of new treatments and procedures, information on new facilities, and notices of achievement, recognition and awards our programs and clinicians receive throughout the year.

The newest addition to our Web site is the Health eCooking Show. You’ll see an icon for it on the right hand side of your screen (just look for the chef’s hat). Click here to find dozens of printer-friendly recipes as well as cooking videos that allow you to watch a healthy and delicious recipe being prepared step-by-step. We think you’ll enjoy this new feature. Let us know what you think.

In this issue of Your Health Matters, the cover story is about an important new facility here—the recently completed three-story Frost Family Pavilion, home to 60 private inpatient rooms, which opened to patients on January 8. These new floors allow us to operate all 100 beds for which we are licensed and to provide every patient with a private room and bath, outfitted with the most advanced equipment for medical and surgical patient care. I hope you were able to attend the dedication ceremony for the Frost Family Pavilion that we held on December 9 to see this beautiful new space in person. The response of visitors that day, and of patients and families since the opening, has been tremendous.

Much of what we’ve been able to accomplish is because of the generous support of the community. Whether you support the Hospital as a donor, as a volunteer, or by using its services, you are an integral part of why we are here and how we are able to grow.

Most of this issue is dedicated to recognizing and thanking our donors for their support over the past year. Your support, large or small, is a vital part of our ability to provide top quality care—for your and your family and for generations to come. Thank you!

I welcome your comments, questions and suggestions. My e-mail address is lgiancola@schospital.com. I look forward to hearing from you.
All year long, the nurses and social workers of the Family Outreach Program make a difference in the lives of children, giving their families tools to build bright futures.

VNS Home Health Services has been a provider of the Family Outreach Program (FOP) in Washington County for many years. The program, a service for families with newborns, is administered by the Rhode Island Department of Health and has historically used a number of visiting nurse agencies to cover all regions of the state. In 2007, VNS was honored to be asked to provide staff for the FOP program in a larger geographic area, both Washington and Kent counties. In addition, VNS was asked to provide administration for the program in the northern regions of the state.

In-home Visits
The Family Outreach Program’s purpose is to provide in-home assessments and education for families with newborns. The arrival of a new baby is a time of excitement and celebration yet, amidst the celebration and happiness, there is also stress—financial, social and health concerns, as well as environmental and emotional concerns, can present themselves. The highly skilled and experienced maternal child health nurses of VNS Home Health Services are there to help.

They provide expertise and resources to assist families and their children across a wide range of needs. At times these are truly life and death situations. At other times the nurse may be listening to a mother who has just found out her child has a challenging medical diagnosis. Or, the need may be to assist a mom in finding a shelter where she can protect both her infant and herself from domestic violence.

Bringing Joy to Families
This past holiday season, the VNS Family Outreach Program “adopted” a needy family for Christmas. The family had four young children, all believers in Santa Claus. The father was unemployed, and the mother was not able to work for medical reasons. During an FOP home visit, the mother shared that she would not be able to buy presents for her children. Plus, her children were worried that Santa might not find them in the shelter. VNS delivered gifts (while the children were in another room), so that the gifts could be from mom and Santa.

Referrals to Family Outreach are generally made directly from the hospital when the baby is born, however, any parent who would like a visit should ask their doctor to make a referral for the Family Outreach Program of VNS Home Health Services. Call (401) 782-0500 or 1-800-834-3334 for more information.

Frost Family Pavilion Opens

Each of the three floors of the Frost Family Pavilion includes a large sitting area on the southern end where a wall of glass floods the hallways with light and provides soothing views of Point Judith Pond. (This photograph was taken before construction was complete; the sitting areas now all contain welcoming, comfortable furnishings.)

Unit on Borda 2, which allows for orthopedic inpatients to be cared for by specially trained nurses in one area.

Convenient Access
Access to the Frost Family Pavilion floors, as well as all other inpatient facilities, is now available to visitors from a central bank of elevators located off the Hospital’s Main Entrance and Lobby, making it easy, quick and convenient for visitors to find their way.

Parking is available in the spaces located directly outside the Hospital’s Main Entrance (facing Point Judith Pond and Rt. 1), or the Medical Office Building Entrance and the West Entrance. Wheelchair assistance is available by stopping under the dome at the Hospital’s Main Entrance.
South County Hospital Circle of Care

A very special thanks to our Circle of Care donors for their generous support of our Annual Fund. These gifts reflect contributions of $1,000 or more to South County Hospital from Jan. 1, 2007 to Dec. 31, 2007. We are grateful to you for helping us provide high-quality, compassionate care. These leadership gifts demonstrate widespread community support for the Hospital and will inspire others to consider their own personal level of support.

The Campaign for South County Hospital Has Raised in Excess of $11 Million

The outpouring of magnanimous support for The Campaign for South County Hospital from the community has set a new standard of giving. The philanthropy of our year-round and seasonal residents has been a leading factor in our success, and we are truly grateful. The Hospital’s ability to provide the highest quality healthcare is the result of unparalleled community commitment from our Board of Trustees, major donors, corporations, local businesses, community members, SCH medical staff, auxiliary and employees.

Campaign Chair, Russell Shippee, successfully led the this campaign with the assistance of a dedicated and committed Campaign Cabinet, which included: Steve Fera, M.D., Fred Frost, Lou Giancola, Laura Harris, Rick Holland, Sue Kermes, Ken Kermes, Charlie Lee, Doris Manganaro, Donna Neville, Anne O’Neill, Henry Sharpe, Jim Stone, and Barry Wepman, M.D. Our Community Phase Co-Chairs, Cy and Shirley Siravo, were also instrumental in helping us reach out to the community to exceed our goal.
